

El Shaddai

by Julie R.

*Hear me now all of you who's heart He has won
And I will sing you a song of what our Lord has done
He is the Almighty, the all powerful El Shaddai
The One who by a mighty hand answers my every cry
Declaring to me that I may be brought to understand
That nothing is impossible to His outstretched hand*

*He has brought me to trust Him so completely
As I wait for His accomplishing of all that concerns me
Shall I not sing His praises, and give Him all the glory?*

*Is He not the king of this kingdom He has brought me into
And does He not have the only right to reign and to rule
It is He that brings me freedom from what ruled before
And He that opened the door to peace and joy, and rest
How truly, Oh how very truly, I am so daily blessed*

